

Written by Tamsyn and Michael Spackman

©2016 www.Teaching-Children-Music.com

My Music Alphabet Book

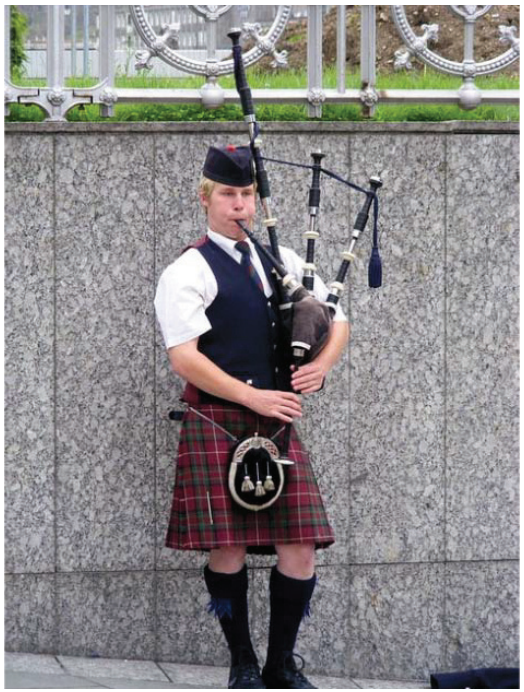

A is for Accordion, for folk music and more.

Z is for Zither, we're done now. That was long!

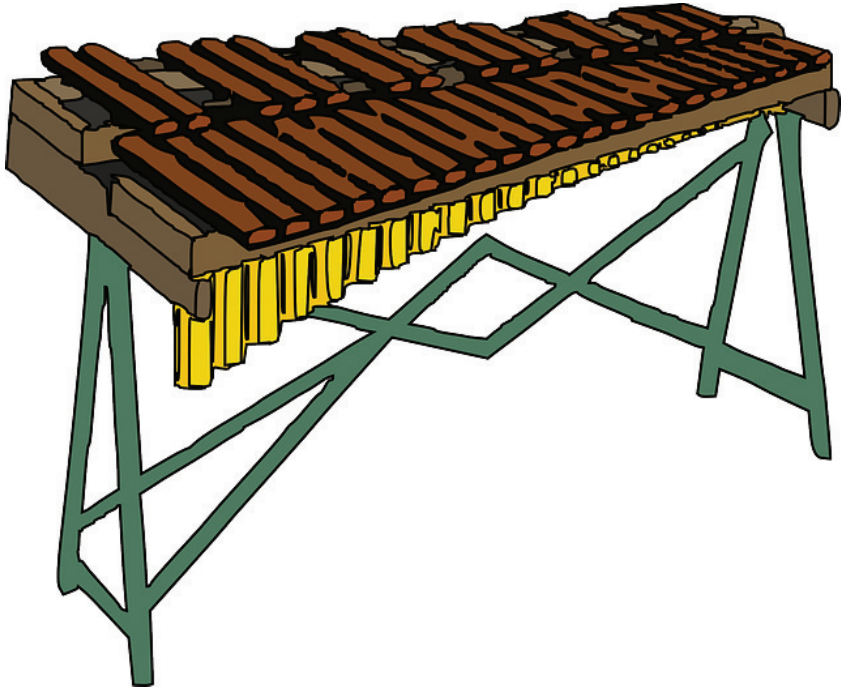

Y is for Yodeling a loud, fun mountain song.

B is for Bagpipe, akin to Scottish lore.

C is for Choir, the singers that we love.

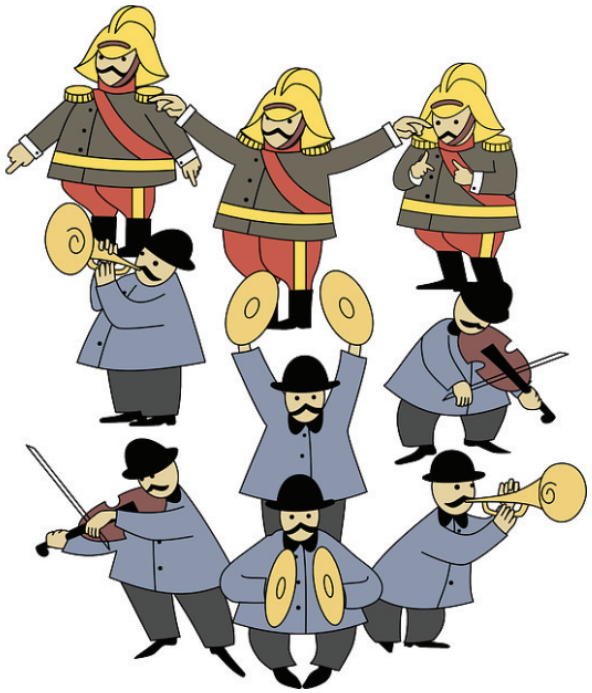

X is for Xylophone, it's made of wood you know.

W is for Waltz, dance
one-two-three and go!

D is for Drum set, some below,
some above.

E is for Ensemble, the group together plays.

V is for Violin, played with a bow as shown.

U is for Ukulele, or Uke as it is known.

F is for Flute, played in many different ways.

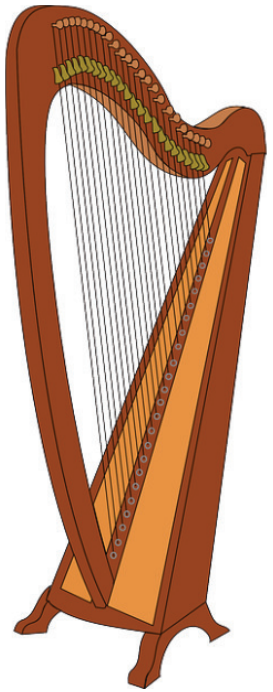

G is for Guitar, I'll face you while I sing.

T is for Trumpet, toot-toot and ta-ti-ti.

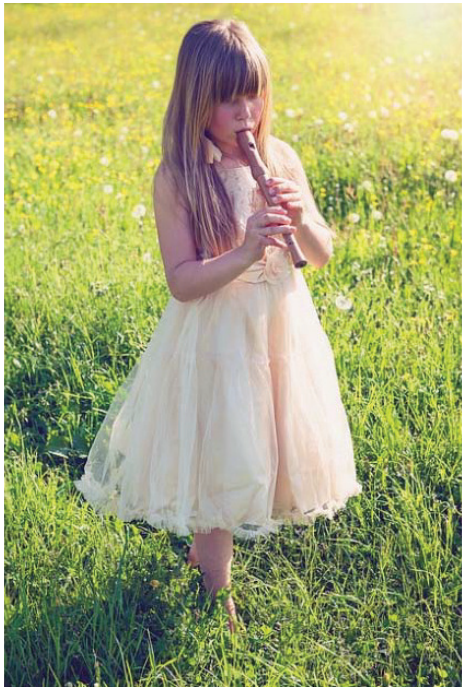

S is for Solfege, like singing
Do, Re, Mi,

H is for a Harp, which has a lovely ring.

I is for Instrument, which one will you play?

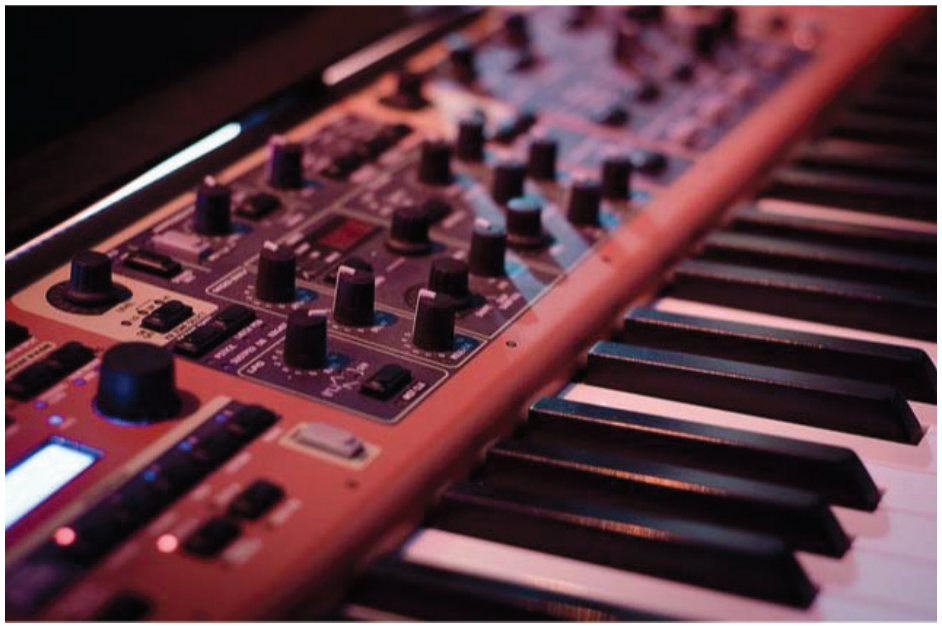

R is for Recorder, I play mine night and day.

Q is for Quartet, when four together play.

J is for Jazz music, my favorite songs all day.

K is for Keyboard, there are so many types.

P is for Piano, now what a silly thing!

O is for Opera, theater where they sing,

L is for Lute, often played along with pipes.

M is for Maracas, percussion!
Oh how fun!

N is for Nocturne, a song when day is done.